INTRODUCING EXCELLO LAW

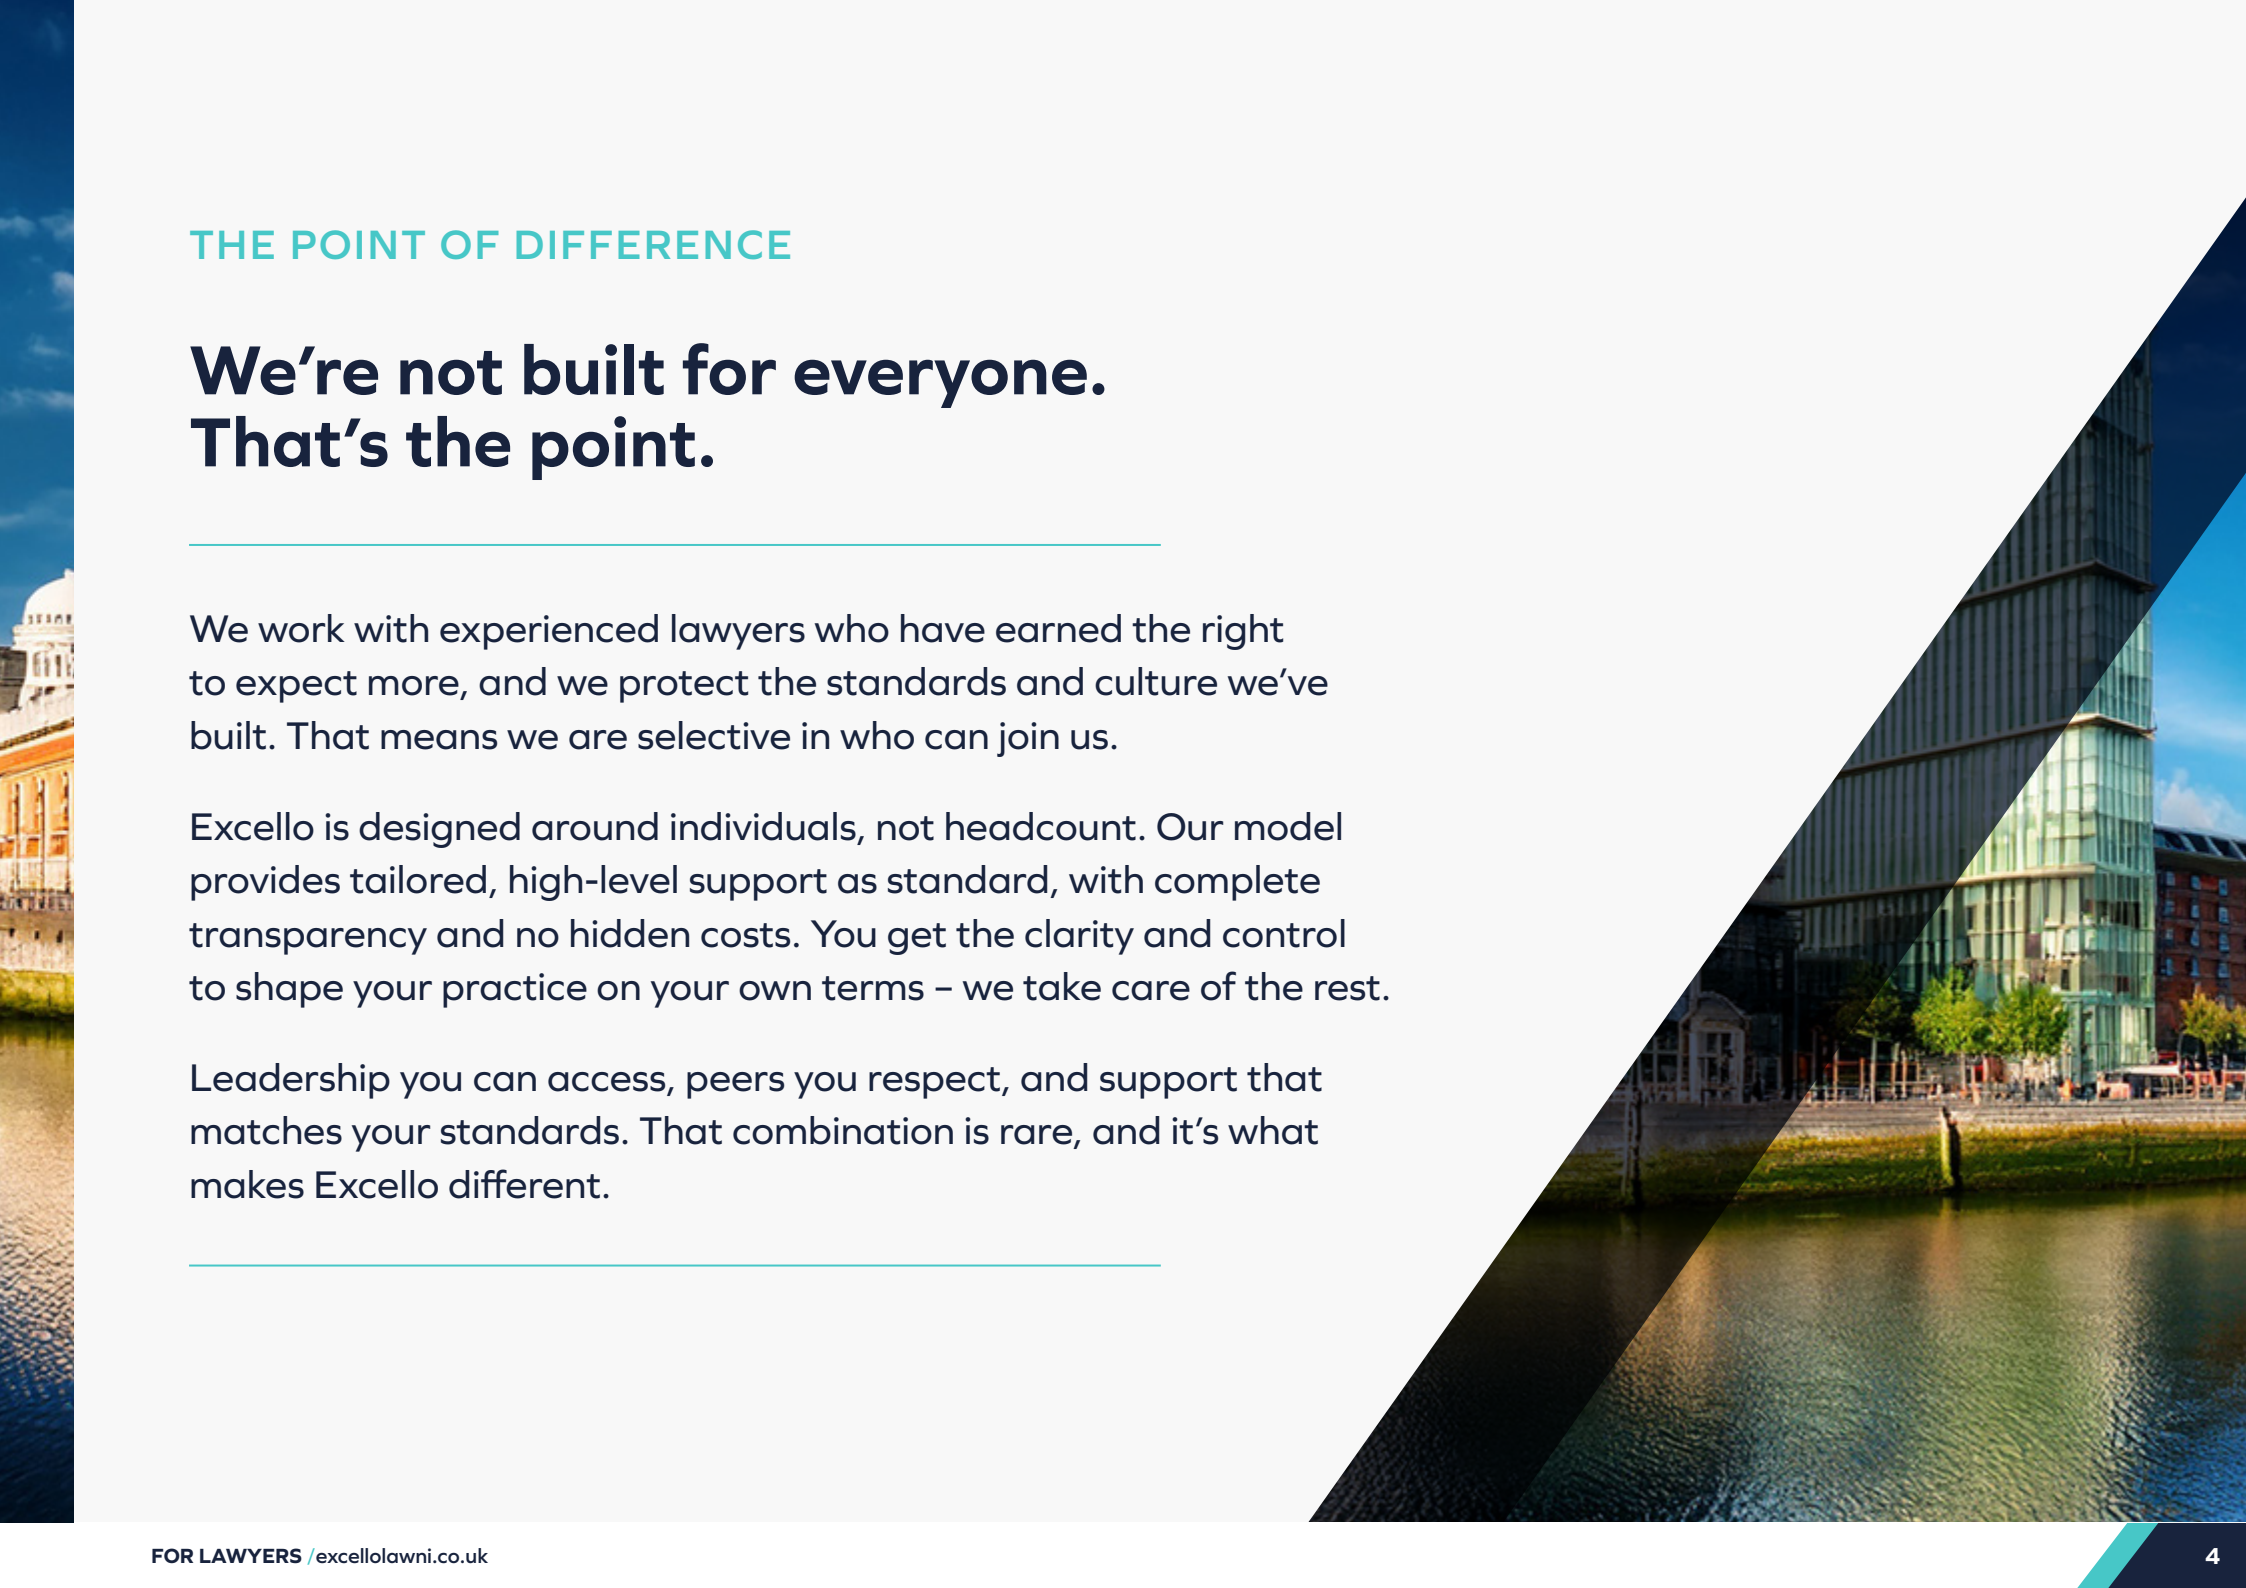

Practise Independently. Earn More.

Excello Law is a leading fee-share law firm designed for experienced lawyers who want greater freedom, flexibility, and financial reward.

As a fee share partner, you bring your own clients and operate independently, while keeping up to 75% of your fees - significantly more than in a traditional firm. In return, Excello provides extensive support and full infrastructure.

This means you can focus entirely on your clients and legal work, without the burden of running a firm.

At the same time, you join a national and international network of senior lawyers, providing opportunities for connection and collaboration.

THE POINT OF DIFFERENCE

We're not built for everyone. That's the point.

We work with experienced lawyers who have earned the right to expect more, and we protect the standards and culture we've built. That means we are selective in who can join us.

Excello is designed around individuals, not headcount. Our model provides tailored, high-level support as standard, with complete transparency and no hidden costs. You get the clarity and control to shape your practice on your own terms – we take care of the rest.

Leadership you can access, peers you respect, and support that matches your standards. That combination is rare, and it's what makes Excello different.
